Visual messages are probably the strongest influence on developing minds. Viewing violence is a proven way to lessen/deaden children's sense of reality. There is way too much violence on TV and movies.